AWS Pair End Club Meeting

representing CBC Regional International Women Students returned to classes after attending the business meeting in Summins, secretary of AWS, and Bonnie Gage, president, were among the women students representing Pacific Northwest at the conference.

"Stumbling Block or Stone" was the theme of the meeting at the University of Washington campus. The play was at the new McArthur auditorium.

Wendell Jones, CBC AWS president, said that a new president, and representatives would be elected at the meeting for the AWS National Association.

Highlights of Cabiria Scheduled

The second film to be shown in the film series this quarter is "Cabiria," from the series of films starring Giulietta Massina. It was shown last quarter. The movie is directed by Federico Fellini. He directed "E la vita," and is considered to be Italy's greatest director.

The Columbia Basin College Hawks made Washington junior college conference history this past season with 27 wins and no losses. This makes the fourth consecutive year that Coach Jim Rodger's team won the State JC championship.

The final two games against the Gray's Harbor Chokers clinched the title with 75-65 and 79-70 wins on the Chokers' home court in Aberdeen. Top scorer for the Hawks in the two games was Theartis Wallace with 39 points, followed by Byron Beck with 36. Wallace earned the Phil Pesco Most Valuable Player Award, voted on by sportswriters and broadcasters at the playoffs.

The Hawks averaged 85 points per game for the season, and held the opponents to 61.8 points a game. Three times during the season the Hawks scored more than 100 points, including a record high of 112.

A BANQUET honoring the team was held in the CBC lounge Thursday, March 26.

Mr. Red Reese, a veteran basketball coach of 30 years, spoke at the banquet. Mr. Reese coached at Eastern State College in Cheney before his recent retirement.

Four awards, voted on by the players were presented. They include: the Honorary Captain Award; The Defensive Award; the Inspirational Award, and the Most Valuable Player Award.

The Hawks broke many records and set some new ones this season which will be hard to beat.

'Vaudeville' Will Play May 1-3

The music and drama departments will combine efforts to produce "The Death of Vaudeville" with Donald Bogenberger, John Fitzpatrick, and Terry Crabb, directors.

The revue will be a musical production, a "re-enactment of the crime," Bogenberger said. It will be on stage May 1, 2, 3, in the Pasco High School auditorium.

The cast of 50 includes six faculty members, James Devine, Roger Bjerk, Kae Fullagar, Avery Casteel, Fred Dixon, and Wayne Rogers.

Now in rehearsal, the cast practices Monday through Thursday nights from in the CBC gym.

Bogenberger said that persons interested in joining the cast may see him for information.

Student Silence Means Satisfaction

DEAN HEILING

Freshman class representatives, Felix Vargas, Wally Peterson, and Dean Heiling, said they are always available to hear comments and criticism about the class and projects, but they haven't received much of either.

Peterson said one of the points he stressed in his campaign was that he would offer the best representation. "I told the students I would always be ready to hear their opinions, and I meant it."

Vargas attributes the silence on the part of the freshman class to satisfaction. "The silence by the electorates could only mean they are satisfied."

All three representatives agreed that the best time to see them would be at council meetings, Monday and Wednesday mornings at 10, in Room C-115.

The next big project to be sponsored by the freshman class is the graduation ball in May. "All suggestions are welcome. We'll begin organizing committees in about two weeks, and we would like a large turn-out of freshmen," Vargas said.

Library Receives Book From Dr. F. Ivan Nye

Dr. F. Ivan Nye recently made a personal presentation of "The Employed Mother in America" to the CBC library. Dr. Nye and Lois Hoffman are the authors.

On the flyleaf Dr. Nye has written "In appreciation of the assistance of the Tri-City communities in conducting the research reported in this volume." This is a recent publication.

Shout, Shout

Committees are now forming to regulate next year's CBC activities. If the student wants to make a suggestion about the contents of next year's activities schedule, he should express his opinion now.

This year's activities were well planned and provided a fair cross section of the contemporary influences in art, politics, science and world affairs. CBC students have had the opportunity to listen to people who are influential in the formation of local, national and international opinion. This year's speakers' schedule included personalities as diverse as those of Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press bureau chief, and Catherine May, U. S. Representative.

Next year the schedule of speakers can be even better, if the students express their desires clearly and precisely.

The lecture committee must choose and notify the speakers now to ensure the availability of the speakers.

One should find out what speakers are available and tell the committee members which ones he would like so that the schedule will fulfill the desires of the whole student body.

Now is also the time to express your opinions on any of the rest of the CBC activities to include in next year's schedule. It's time, in short, to participate in the selection of the events for the 1964-1965 school year.

Student Activities Council Announces April Agenda

April activities discussed by SAC in their March 24 meeting included Tolo, the forthcoming films and the drama department's musical review to be presented April 23, 24, and 25. The Tolo season, which begins April 5, will be climaxed Saturday, April 11, by the annual Tolo Dance.

Margaret Showalter, SAC President, announced that the four-piece band that played for last Saturday's Basin Mid-Management dance will be available to play for other dances. Interested groups should contact her about obtaining the band.

Miss Showalter also reported that Mr. Hansen expects his files to contain a current constitution, list of officers, and record of activities from each club. Mr. Hansen stressed the need for this information to be brought up-to-date immediately, according to Miss Showalter.

Dianne Vogt reminded SAC that the lecture series folder is available for comment in Mrs. Stappler's office.

Vox Populi, Vox Dei . . .

Dear Ed:

For most of the school year I have been working on the problems of building a student union building with Jesse Howard.

The top and primary problem with the building of such a building is in financial problems attached with such a project. In most of the colleges that I have contacted, this problem is solved by adding an additional expense to the usual ASB fee.

The fee I am speaking of is primarily to pay off loans made through the federal government and/or private funds.

AS MR. HANSEN said, "The junior college is fairly new in this state, and the legal problems are far from solved."

I agree with this fully, and believe that the students of today should be educated about these problems due to the fact that they will be leaders of tomorrow making the laws to govern such institutes.

As everybody knows, in the future there is going to be a greater need for such a building due to the crowded conditions in the lounge as there is currently.

Since this is a long term project, I am asking each and every student of CBC to help support and encourage the building of student union building.

Sue Warren is New Freshman Secretary

Sue Warren, freshman class secretary, replaced Joanne Prechtel, who is no longer enrolled. The freshman class executive board appointed Miss Warren.

Some Students Feel The Collegiate Is Inefficient

Tuesday afternoon, CBC students began circulating petitions which read:

"We, the students of CBC feel that the Collegiate, the official school newspaper is doing an inefficient job. It is supposed to represent our feelings and opinions which it does not do. Since it is financially supported by the Associated Student Body, we, the members, feel that we have the right to demand some changes be made.

Therefore, we petition our student body officers to set up a meeting with the editorial staff of The Collegiate and decide on some changes in policy. If this cannot be done to the satisfaction of the student body, we petition the funds allotted be stopped immediately and be put to use in a better representative method of Columbia Basin College."

Space for 57 provided at the bottom of the petition.

According to D. there is no organization in charge of the students' vote. Vogt estimated the circulating petition also said the petition presented to the board at its Monday meeting.

Gary Starkey, said, "ASB officers, endorsing, encouraging the petition being circulated. These petitions circulated by their own initiative without the ASB Council in ASB Council is just an act concerning the campus."

Riphey Comments On Petition

Dr. Donald T. Riphey, president of CBC, said that he thought it is always easier to criticize than it is to come forward with constructive proposals or with concrete actions.

"Some people do not realize the difficulties facing organizations and criticize freely without putting any effort out to help the situation. The very finest way for students to improve anything, whether it's the school paper or a literary edition, is to do something themselves.

"The Collegiate is faced with problems long, trying to recruit staff members. The edition was open to students for contribution who did not contribute are the ones to criticize," Riphey said.

Seven Mid-Management Members Place At Yakima Conference

CBC's Basin Mid-Management Club won seven awards at the State Leadership Conference at Yakima two weeks ago.

Winners were: Richard Nordness, second place, sales reproduction; Keith Cariss, second place, decision-making; Margaret Showalter, first place, advertising; Terri Eastwood, first place, advertising; Mike Brower, honorable mention, speech; Dee Wallace, second place, advertising, and Marlene Miller, second place, advertising.

Howard Kiehlbauch, advisor for the club, said the Mid-Management program is supported by the federal government. Also, 48 national corporations and retail businesses contribute to Mid-Management clubs in high school and colleges around the country.

MOST OF the students work in department stores or other businesses while taking the course in distributive education. The club provides an opportunity for students with similar interests and free time to meet, and has sponsored many entertainment activities for the student body.

Representatives from the CBC club will attend the national convention April 29-30, and May 1-2 in Chicago.

The Olympia office of Distributive Education Clubs of America, College Division will choose the representatives from each school. Eligible CBC students are Margaret Showalter; Terri Eastwood; Joyce Coppersmith; Marlene Miller; Dee Wallace; Keith Cariss; Richard Nordness, and Julie Caron. Joyce Coppersmith is president of the club, and Julie Caron is state secretary.

STUDENTS ATTENDING the national convention will compete in the same events they won on the state level, and enter a demonstration project in competition. Judges are chosen from college faculties in the Chicago area.

In 1963, John Richardson, former CBC student, was elected national president; Ron Cooper, another former CBC student, was elected national vice-president in 1962.

Hawks Drop Opening Ball Game

The Columbia Basin Hawks opened the 1964 baseball season with two losses to the Idaho Vandals in Lewiston Friday. Plagued by errors, the Hawks took a 6-4 and 4-0 defeat in the afternoon doubleheader.

In the first game, Coach Len Pyne's Hawks got off to a good start with a single by Dick Myers. Myers stole second and Jim Spencer brought him home on a single. Bill Boyer slammed a homer over the leftfielder's head to bring the score to a 3-0 at the end of the first.

CBC Has Financial Freedom

In an interview with a Collegiate reporter, ASB Treasurer Charles Johnson said that CBC has an advantage over other schools in the state, because the students have more freedom to direct their own financial affairs.

However, students are not without counseling and regulation. The Pasco Superintendent of Schools and the CBC administration keep a watchful eye on ASB financial transactions. Mrs. Bonnie Underwood, ASB bookkeeper, compiles a monthly report of receipts and disbursements for the benefit of the administration and others involved in the business aspects of ASB. In addition, Ridgeway and Worley, a professional accounting firm, audits the ASB financial records on behalf of Dr. James Thrasher, Pasco superintendent of schools. Copies of the audit report are sent to the CBC administration and ASB officials.

Commenting on the budget, Johnson quoted the current figure as $83,802.18. He said that the budget is based on previous expenditures and an estimated income of ASB. The reserve fund is available in the event that club incomes fall below the estimated amount. Money is budgeted to the account of each ASB supported organization.

The clubs also do their share. Johnson said, "Receipts from such activities as the Bud and Travis concert and after game dances go into the scholarship fund."

Dates for Casting Announced

Thomas L. Barton, head of the CBC Drama Department, announced April 6, 7, and 8 as the casting dates for the college season's last play.

The selected play is The Miser by Moliere.

Casting will be at the fireplace lounge at 7:30 p.m. on these evenings.

Mr. Barton hopes for a large turn-out of students as the play calls for 11 men and 4 women. Mr. Barton stressed the fact that experience is not a criteria used in casting college productions, and students should not let lack of experience keep them from trying out for college plays.

The play will be staged in authentic seventeenth century costume.

We like doing business with Murray Black

And he likes Standard's policy of supporting local business

If you had an oil well out in the ocean, as Standard often does, you'd find Murray Black a useful man. He helps to build, and also services, underwater oil wells and pipelines.

Murray is not a Standard employee...he's an independent contractor, with five other deep-sea divers on his payroll, and thousands of dollars of his own money tied up in equipment.

He started specifically to serve Standard's offshore drilling operations near Santa Barbara, and, from this small, local beginning, has become one of the busiest submarine contractors on the West Coast.

While his services are unique, he is only one of some 18,000 individual suppliers from whom Standard buys goods and services every year. Many are small independent operators such as Murray Black.

Standard's purpose is to spread its purchasing widely as possible, so that its dollars help to build many local businesses and communities.

Our annual shopping list is more than 50,000 items long. As our dollars flow into your community through local purchases, they help its whole economy. And the benefit, sooner or later, reaches out to you.

Planning ahead to serve you better
